

Preparedness for summer activities – coping with the second wave

15 June 2020

Guiding principles

1. Risk management – educational, organizational, and resource (detailed in the presentation)
2. Maintaining maximum flexibility and decision making ability
3. Preparing trained staff and recruiting leaders will be a central part of the summer program
4. A focus on local and regional activities and preparation of a national framework
5. Preference to be given to providing a response to local needs

Tools and methods which will be used in order to maintain preparedness to respond to situational change (improvement / deterioration)

Permanent Forums

General: Based on the departments responsible for activities in times of normal routine, a team will be set up to deal specifically with corona. Each circle of the movement should have relevant forums defined.
